

waterstart

channels for innovation

WaterStart provides a channel for technology companies to grow by serving the needs of our global membership of first adopters. Our CHANNELS program mitigates opportunity acquisition costs, provides industry insights, funds full scale pilots, and provides valued references to support your solution, making a bigger impact.

Driven by the needs of water agencies and large consumers, we provide a channel for pooling resources to accelerate the deployment and adoption of innovative water technologies.

"WaterStart has been critical in the expansion of Klir into the U.S. market, without whom we would not be where we are today. Its approach is like none other in the industry and is geared entirely around paid pilots of commercial challenges. The team in WaterStart is incredible to work with and is genuinely invested in the success of our expansion."

-David Lynch, CEO, Klir
